Advisory Committee to Tuberculin Test Work Holds Session Thursday Evening.

PLAN TO START APRIL 30

County Agent R. E. Underwood Urges Every Farmer in County to Get In to Contest and Sign Up Herds.

The advisory committee of the Adams county agricultural extension association for modified accredited area tuberculin tests, elected at a general meeting here on Tuesday evening, met at the office of R. E. Underwood, county farm agent, Thursday evening, and named the men to act as chairman of their respective township committees, which they will appoint.

The men as named by the committee, of which Farm Agent Underwood is chairman by virtue of his position, are as follows for the various townships:

A. B. C. Williams, Latimore; J. H. Pechey, Liberty; R. H. Lupp, Menallen; Earl Cashman, Mt. Pleasant; R. M. Spangler, Straban; Roy Raffensperger, Butler; R. D. Taylor, Tyronne; Samuel Keagy, Union; A. D. Sheely, Arendtsville; Clarence Bream, Franklin; Clarence C. Smith, Mt. Joy; J. Frank Spangler, Hamilton; William G. Durborow, Cumberland; H. C. Brinton, Berwick; Isaiah Diller, Conewago; Edgar N. Rhodes, Freedom; Herbert Motter, Germany; Harry Brown, Hamilton; J. C. Bream, Highland; Calvin Davis, Huntington, and Nathan Miller, Oxford.

The committee of township chairmen will meet with the advisory committee on Tuesday evening, April 29, at the office of County Agent Underwood and on the following day the drive for signing up herd owners in each township will begin. Each of the township chairmen will be expected to appoint a committee to help him with his work.

First returns from the signing up of herd owners are expected to be published by Saturday, May 10. On the Saturday of each week thereafter, the percentage of herds signed up will be posted on a bulletin board at the court house. "Let every farmer in the county get in this contest and see which township first goes over the top with 90 per cent of its herds," is Farm Agent Underwood's challenge.

By June 1, it is planned to complete the survey, so that work of tuberculin testing of cattle can go forward from that time. Each township chairman will be furnished with booklets on points he should know about the modified accredited area plan, according to Mr. Underwood.

On the advisory committee, besides County Agent Underwood, are John C. Bream, Roy Weaver, Russell Spangler and Harry Brown.

Young Man, After Threatening To Take Life, Hangs Himself

Charles I. Weigert, 17, Of Near East Berlin, Asks Undertaker Several Weeks Ago If He Wants Job; Carries Out Threat Made To Half-Sister Short Time Before.

When Harry Emig, an undertaker of East Berlin, was called upon Thursday evening to prepare the body of Charles Irvin Weigert, aged 17 years, for burial, he understood a joking remark the young man made to him a month ago when the two met on the street.

The young man, a son of Mrs. Milton Klugh, of Reading township, near Hollinger's school house, committed suicide by hanging himself to a rafter in the feeding entry of the barn at the Klugh home Thursday evening about 6 o'clock.

When the young man accosted the undertaker several weeks ago, he said, "Mr. Emig, do you want a job?" Not comprehending the boy's strange question, Mr. Emig laughed the incident away. Word of the boy's rash act, however, brought back vividly the conversation.

For several weeks young Weigert had been threatening to take his life, but no one accepted his remarks seriously. The only motive for the suicide, according to the family, is that the young man had been worried since he quit work at the garage of Paul Lerew in East Berlin several months ago, to help his step-father, Milton Klugh, on the farm.

Just a short time before going to the barn Thursday to take his life, young Weigert told one of his half-sisters that he was going to hang himself. The girl, believing he was only joking, answered, "Aw, go on, you're crazy." A short time before the conversation, young Weigert and his mother are said to have had an altercation, which led to heated remarks between the two.

The suicide's body was found by his half-brother, Earl Klugh, 13, who went to the barn to get some corn for the chickens. Upon opening the door to the feeding entry, he found the body of Charles swaying back and forth, a rope around the neck, and one end tied to a rafter.

Earl immediately called his mother, who rushed to the barn and cut the rope from her son's neck. When the body was taken down, there was still a few signs of life in the young man and all the common methods of restoring circulation in such cases were resorted to in an effort to save his life. Mr. Klugh was notified and he, in turn, summoned Dr. Eugene Elgin, of East Berlin, but upon his arrival he pronounced life extinct.

Finding the young man dead, Dr. Elgin called Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Baltimore street, county coroner, who went to the Klugh home. The coroner, after viewing the body and hearing the story of the family, issued a verdict of suicide and decided that an inquest would be unnecessary.

Besides his mother, young Weigert is survived by two half-brothers, Earl and Frederick Klugh; three half-sisters, Tressie, Clara and May, and his step-father, Milton Klugh, all at home. Funeral Monday, meeting at his late home at 12 o'clock noon, with services at Barren's Church, near Dillsburg. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

DR. MOFFETT IS C. OF C. SPEAKER

Outlines True Functions of Modern Chamber of Commerce.

"A Chamber of Commerce should crystallize the sentiment of the community for direct action for the betterment of the community and the best way to crystallize that sentiment and get action is by a paid, full-time secretary."

This was the high spot of an address by Dr. Robert Moffett, Harrisburg, head of the organization division of the State Chamber of Commerce, before members of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce at the fire engine house, Thursday evening.

As C. W. Cook, president of the local trade body, explained in opening the meeting, the question of the employment of a full-time secretary for the Chamber of Commerce had been favorably discussed by the directors and that it was now submitted to members for discussion.

President Cook appointed a committee from the membership to meet with the directors some night next week and thrash out details of the secretary matter. With Herbert L. Grimm, as chairman, President Cook appointed in addition Mark K. Eckert, Harold A. Miller, Howard Hartley, J. I. Burgoon, E. H. Markley and Howard C. Mitinger. Many questions were asked the State Chamber representatives by those present. No opposition to the plan was voiced.

Opening with the declaration that a Chamber of Commerce should be located in every town that has resources to be developed, Dr. Moffett smashed one of the popular conceptions that such an organization is merely a "factory-grabbing institution, adding that to develop in only one direction would be to defeat the very idea for which Chambers of Commerce are organized.

"The function of the modern Chamber of Commerce," continued the speaker, "is the conservation of every phase of community activity for the Eighty-one persons were served at a supper at the home of Mrs. Harry Lackner, Sr., Chambersburg street, Thursday evening, held as a benefit for the Men's Bible class of the Gettysburg Presbyterian church.

The receipts, amounting to $58.35, were turned over to the Bible class. Mrs. Lackner refusing to take anything for the food or her services in connection with its preparation. According to Rev. W. C. Robinson, minister, Mrs. Lackner's contribution was the most generous received by the Men's Bible class.

Two menus were available at the supper, the one consisting of chicken salad, potatoes, peas and apple sauce, and the other consisting of baked ham, potato salad, pickles and peas. Ice cream and cake were extra.

The Men's Bible class is assisting with the financing of repairs to the front basement of the church and the funds received from Mrs. Lackner's benefit supper will be turned over for that purpose. Included in the repairs to the front basement is the moving of the heating plant from the front to the back basement and the conversion of the front basement into a social room and a study room for the Men's Bible class. When not in use for these purposes it will be utilized for boys' work.

Work on the repairs to the front basement of the church is to begin shortly.

HIGH MEETS TECH ON LOCAL DIAMOND

Game to be Played Saturday Afternoon Beginning at 2 O'clock at Playground.

With five scalps in its belt, the Gettysburg High School baseball team on Saturday afternoon opens its Central Pennsylvania Baseball League season, meeting the Harrisburg Tech nine on the Playground diamond here at 2 o'clock.

Gettysburg is one of the three teams in Section B of the League, the other two being Harrisburg Tech and Lebanon. In Section A of the League are Reading, Catasauqua, Bethlehem and Easton. The winners in each of the respective Leagues will play each other on Section A territory.

The Maroon and White nine has already downed Millersburg, Baltimore City College, Lititz, Massanutten Academy and Frederick High School, and is now anxious to meet Tech's diamond squad. The latter team was defeated recently 19 to 1 by the Harrisburg team in the New York-Pennsylvania League, but this trimming cannot be counted against Tech's ability as a team, because the League nine was composed entirely of professional players, it is pointed out.

Coach Walter D. Reynolds, of the High School, has three able pitchers, Tennant, Bushey and Utz, and is expected to start Tennant in Saturday's fray. In the game with Frederick this week, Tennant went six innings without allowing a hit.

While Gettysburg High School and Harrisburg Tech furnish the attraction for Gettysburg baseball fans, Saturday afternoon, the Gettysburg College team goes to Easton to play Lafayette, and the Gettysburg Academy nine and the Harrisburg Academy team play in the latter city.

$25 Death Benefit Is Passed By Southeastern Firemen's Body

Gettysburg Firemen Comprise About One-Third Of Attendance At Meeting At Lancaster Thursday Evening; Next Quarterly Meeting In Harrisburg, July 24.

Gettysburg delegates represented about one-third of the attendance at the Quarterly Meeting of the Southeastern Firemen's Association which was held in Lancaster Thursday evening. About thirty-five members of the Gettysburg Fire Company were present at the meeting, a number of them being taken in as members of the Association during the session.

The item of greatest importance taken up by the Association was the adoption of an amendment to the by-laws, allowing for a death benefit of $25, to which all members of the organization in good standing are eligible. The amendment was passed by a unanimous vote.

The gathering, which was held in Red Men's Hall, Lancaster, with Lancaster firemen as hosts to the Association, was given an address of welcome by Colonel John D. Groft, of Lancaster. He lauded volunteer firemen as a class of men unparalleled in their generosity and public-spiritedness. "The minister serves for the salary he receives; the physician works for his fee; a lawyer is first paid with a retainer; but a fireman gives up his time and risks his health and his life in his endeavors to lighten and prevent disaster, pain or death to his fellowmen," said Colonel Groft.

He was followed by J. William Morgan, deputy State fire marshal, of Harrisburg, who made a plea for fire prevention as well as control. F. E. Soule, president of the Contesville fire companies and deputy fire marshal of Chester county, spoke briefly and to the point in urging a continuation of the good-will and spirit of fellowship which already obtains among firemen the world over. Another speaker of the evening was Samuel F. Antes, fire marshal of Lancaster county and fourth vice president of the Association.

Officers of the Association, who presided over the meeting, were: John Shoop, Harrisburg, president; James B. Aumen, Gettysburg, first vice president; J. L. Redman, Harrisburg, secretary; William A. Sheaffer, Lancaster, treasurer.

The Association membership is made up of firemen of all companies in Adams, Franklin, Lebanon, Dauphin, Chester, Lancaster and Cumberland counties, and proposals were made to increase the membership to 500 members by the next Quarterly meeting. This, as a result of the vote Thursday evening, will be held in Harrisburg on July 24, meeting at the Veterans' Fire Company Hall.

Among the Gettysburg firemen who were admitted to membership in the Southeastern Association Thursday evening were: Arthur E. Hutchison, E. W. Stallsmith, E. C. Shriver, W. L. Adair, A. M. Becker, J. C. Storm, Francis H. Smith, Emory Strasbaugh, E. A. Deatrick, George March, T. J. Hardy, John Codori, Charles Codori, Andrew Florence, I. D. Kelly, Harry Koch and Herbert Oyler. Also R. C. Robert and R. D. Bream, of Cashtown, were admitted.

Some of those who went from here, and were already members of the Association, were: James B. Aumen, George A. McClellan, Bert Hummer, Ralph Redding, Tyson Tipton, Joseph Codori, Mervin Crouse, Walter Steiner, James Howe, Emory Strasbaugh, C. L. Fissel, S. E. Swope, Refus Bushman, Donald Stallsmith and O. Sanders.

Musical selections, played by a string orchestra of Lancaster, were heartily joined in the choruses by a number of the Gettysburg firemen. Following the meeting, refreshments were served as the music was furnished by the orchestra and vocalists, the latter divided into quartets, sextets, trios and double quartets. "In Dear Old Georgia" proved a popular number, and the selection was encored several times, particularly by Gettysburg firemen.

Members of the local company furnished sufficient automobiles to transport the delegation to and from the meeting.

4 MT. ST. MARY'S BOYS 'JUGGED'

Spend Night in Jail in Frederick, Charged With Stealing Automobile.

As a result of a desire to "have a good time," four young students of Mt. St. Mary's College at Emmitsburg spent Tuesday night in the Frederick county jail, it is learned. They were held on a charge of attempting to steal an automobile in Frederick. They gave their names as Hugh Wall 17, Philadelphia; Howard Axt, 16, Newark; Howard Bourne, 16, Brooklyn; John Galvin, 16, New York City.

The automobile, which it is charged the boys attempted to steal, belonged to Laurens Phebus, of Frederick. The machine was parked in front of Phebus' home Tuesday evening.

Neighbors, who noticed the quartet when they started the car, gave chase in another automobile, and succeeded in cornering them in an alley. Three of them took to their heels, however, and fled the scene. Wall alone was caught, and taken to the home of a constable, where he was placed under arrest.

A search of the city resulted in the later arrest of the other three boys, and all were held pending word of the authorities at Mt. St. Mary's College. Two instructors, following a conference with the States Attorney, succeeded in having the youths released Wednesday morning upon payment of costs in the case, the charges of theft being dropped. The students claimed they were trying to return to College after a "good time" in the city.

MURPHY, LEADER OF TAMMANY, DEAD

Successor to Croker Victim of Acute Indigestion Attack.

ROSE FROM LOW LEVEL.

Starting as Street Car Driver, He Was Genius as Leader; Later Headed Tammany Hall.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Apr. 25.—Charles S. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, died today of acute indigestion. Murphy succeeded the late Richard Croker, as head of the country's most famous political organization. He was a native New Yorker, having been born here June 20, 1858.

A street car driver who became leader of the most powerful, political organization in the world and as such played a prominent part in the naming of mayors, governors and nominees for the presidency, such is the life story of Charles Murphy.

Although denied the advantages of an education because of family circumstances, he showed qualities of leadership early in life and from boyhood had been a leader of a circle of one kind or another. In all of them he was uniformly successful, a result that may be said to have been due to his loyalty to his friends, his shrewdness and his secretive manner. He never discussed his plans with any except his closest lieutenants and rarely spoke for publication. As a result he came generally to be known as "Silent Charlie."

While trading was not unusually large, prices snapped back vigorously from their recent low levels. Oils, sugars, motors and chemicals all gave good exhibitions of group strength.

1812 DAUGHTERS ASSAIL PACIFISTS

Call Women's Peace and Freedom League Menace to United States.

Washington, April 25.—Denouncing the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom as "a menace to both the peace and freedom of the United States of America," the Daughters of 1812 in a resolution released for publication Thursday urged a Senatorial investigation of it.

This investigation, the Daughters held, should determine whether the league is financed by "certain foreign governments or foreign radical internationalists," and whether it is complying with the laws of the United States relative to reporting political contributions.

"We believe its campaign to make America defenseless and to make slackers out of American women and American youth is not only disloyal, but encourages both foreign insult and aggression leading to war, and also domestic strife, riot and bloodshed," the resolution reads.

"Opposed To True Peace"
"We believe its 'new international order' is consistent with the class warfare program of the Socialists and Communist internationalists, but directly opposed to the promotion of true peace among nations."

The league is scheduled to hold its fourth international congress in Washington May 1 to 7. The resolution of the Daughters of 1812 claimed that the league "has brought to this country swarms of foreign socialists and internationalists, some of them members of foreign Parliaments," to participate in this meeting.

Berlin, April 25.—The death of Dr. Karl Helfferich, former Vice-Chancellor of Germany, and his aunt in the train wreck at Bellinzona, Switzerland, Wednesday, was confirmed Thursday in a dispatch from the German consul at Lugano.

Dr. Helfferich, who was stopping at the private villa of his father-in-law on Lake Maggiore, was booked to begin a series of campaign speeches in Germany Wednesday night as leader of the Nationalist party. He and his aunt were in the German car on the express train from Milan, which collided with the Zurich express. This car was completely destroyed and identification of the half-consumed bodies in it was begun only Thursday morning.

Dr. Schacht Safe In Berlin
Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, was at first reported among the victims, but this later was found to be untrue. Dr. Schacht is in Berlin.

Four American passengers en route from Italy to Switzerland, who were in the electrically lighted Swiss car, were only slightly injured and were able to resume their trip Thursday morning. (The German car is reported to have been lighted by lamps, which exploded when the collision occurred.)

The number of victims in the disaster, according to revised figures telegraphed here, was 19 killed, including 13 passengers and six members of the crew. Several of the seriously injured are in the Bellinzona hospital in a critical condition.

FRENCH JOIN IN AIR RACE

Start Trip to Japan; First Stop Is 1950 Kilometers From Paris.

Paris, April 25.—France Thursday entered the race for long-distance flight supremacy.

A military airplane took off secretly from Villa Coublay and headed for Japan.

The fliers hoped to establish a record for sustained distance flight. The first leg was to be an unprecedented one, a non-stop flight to Constantinople, 1950 kilometers away.

The air ministry did not announce the departure officially, because it is planned, unless the plan succeeds in reaching Constantinople in one jump, to call it a false start.

The air plane is a special type Breguet, which was tested recently. It was flown by French army officers.

It is believed the aim is to beat Major MacLaren, British-around-the-world flier, to Japan.

SENATE OPENS TAX DEBATES

Smoot Defends and Jones At- tacks Mellon Income Rates.

FEW ARE IN ATTENDANCE

Special Effort Will Be Made To Press
Consideration, Chairman States;
Delay In Cut Protested.

Washington, April 25.—Opening shots were fired Thursday in the Senate in the tax-reduction fight, with the Mellon income tax rates being given the most attention.

The intention of Republican organization leaders to stand by the Treasury schedule was indicated in the opening speech by Chairman Smoot, of the Finance Committee, who vigorously defended the rates. Senator Jones, of New Mexico, a Democratic member of the committee, retaliated with a denunciation of the proposed 50 per cent cut in the maximum surtax and a plea for greater tax reduction even than proposed by the Treasury.

The revenue bill—over which the most extended and controversial legislative fight of the session is anticipated—was brought up under inauspicious circumstances. Despite the enthusiastic declarations of the two speakers, less than a score of Senators were on the floor throughout their addresses. Twice a point of no quorum was made to draw an audience, but shortly after the roll calls most of the Senators, tired by the long debate of Wednesday on the bonus bill, had retired.

Chairman Smoot called for a meeting of the Senate one hour earlier than usual today and announced reading of the bill for amendments would be started immediately. This could be deferred, however, for speeches. Consideration of controversial amendments will in any event be sidetracked for later disposition. Mr. Smoot said, and this is expected to delay for more than a week a showdown on the income tax schedule.

Says House Repudiated Rates
In reply to Mr. Smoot's defense of the Mellon rates, which would cut the maximum surtax from 50 per cent to 25 per cent, Senator Jones called attention to the fact that House Republicans had "repudiated" this schedule and adopted a surtax plan calling for a less reduction.

"But over here, where only one-third of the members must go to the people for reelection this fall," Mr. Jones continued, "you propose just exactly what the Republican leaders want. I hope before the election the people of this country will learn just how inequitable this bill is and what the president and his party stand for."

Senator Jones insisted tax reduction should have been ordered much sooner and declared it should go twice as far as contemplated under the committee bill. He proposed that additional reduction be taken care of by use of funds now applied to the national debt.

PATRONS' DAY IN BIGLER SCHOOLS

Classroom Work Occupies the Forenoon and Athletic Events the Afternoon.

Biglerville schools observed Patron's Day all day Wednesday when a special effort was made to have persons interested in the schools visit the various classes and learn what is being done. Although this is a busy time of the year for the patrons of the schools as the spring farm work is in full swing and spraying and other orchard work are demanding attention, nevertheless a large attendance was expected.

In the morning regular class room exercises were held and patrons were urged to visit and see the work of the various teachers. No extra programs were mapped out by the teachers for the regular routine is what the patrons ought to see, school authorities say. In some rooms there were speed contests in the elementary subjects.

At noon a dinner was served in the auditorium. Mrs. U. S. Kleinfelter is chairman of the committee of ladies who helped prepare the dinner.

In the afternoon under the direction of L. V. Stock and W. K. Enck, a program of running races and jumping events for the boys and girls was held on the school grounds and at three o'clock a base ball game was played with the Boiling Springs Vocational School.

No evening meeting was planned. In its stead the last number of the Biglerville Lyceum Course was scheduled in which Dr. H. M. J. Klein, lecturer, historian and theologian of Lancaster, appeared.

SNOWSTORMS IN WEST

Six Inches in Denver; Cold Wave Hits Minnesota.

(By Associated Press.)
Denver, April 25.—Six inches of snow were piled in Denver streets this morning after an all night snowstorm.

St. Paul, April 25.—A cold wave with possible snow hurries will follow the severe electrical storm which visited the northwest last night, according to reports today. Dispatches told of a heavy snowstorm in northwestern North Dakota.

REPORT MARINES DIE IN HONDURAS

Honduran Rebel Aviators Bomb Capital Where Americans Are Stationed.

REPORT IS UNOFFICIAL

Administration Will Act With Firm
Hand If News Of Central American Republic Is Confirmed.

San Salvador, April 25.—Several American sailors have been killed in Honduras, according to advices received here.

An attache of the American Legation in Tegucigalpa is said to have proceeded to Libertad, San Salvador, a cable station, in order to communicate with the Government in Washington.

Aviators Bomb Capital
American sailors were landed some time ago and sent to Tegucigalpa, the Honduran capital. Rebel aviators from the force besieging Tegucigalpa dropped bombs on the capital Wednesday and reports received here Wednesday night said that a number of persons were killed.

A dispatch from Amapala says additional reinforcements for the provisional government forces, who are besieged in Tegucigalpa, have managed to slip through the revolutionary lines and enter the capital.

Other dispatches are to the effect that none of the political parties in Honduras cares to shoulder the responsibility of intervening with Sumner Welles, representing the American Government, in an endeavor to bring about peace between the discordant factions.

AMERICAN CONSULATE RECENTLY FIRED UPON

Washington, April 25.—No official reports had been received Thursday night on the killing of American blue-jackets in Honduras, as reported in unofficial advices from San Salvador.

A force of 165 sailors and 9 officers from the cruiser Milwaukee, at Amapala, has been at Tegucigalpa for several weeks to protect the legation and American life and property generally as a result of revolutionary troubles.

Prepare For Firm Policy

Lacking direct advices, Administration officials declined to discuss the situation, but there were indications that the Government would deal with a firm hand with the situation in Honduras, if necessity should arise. For some time it is known that both at the State and the Navy Departments the trend of affairs in the Central American republic has been observed with concern since the Government collapsed from civil war.

The landing force from the Milwaukee was dispatched to the Honduran capital under command of Commander L. D. Causey at the request of Secretary Hughes, after the Honduran Ministry had proved itself incapable of maintaining order and protecting American and other foreign citizens and interests in Tegucigalpa.

U. S. Legation Fired Upon

Drunken soldiers of the defunct government forces, according to official advices received here, have shot down many persons, including women and children, in the streets of the capital and looted mercantile houses of property estimated at more than $4,000,000 in value.

2 BALLOONS ARE WRECKED IN RACE

Army Bag Ripped When McKin- ley Descends To Get Bearings.

San Antonio, Texas, April 25.—Two of the seven balloons that left here Wednesday in the national elimination race were wrecked Thursday in Oklahoma.

The army balloon S-5 struck a tree near Wapanucka, Oklahoma, at 10:25 Thursday morning when Lieutenant Ashley C. McKinley, its pilot, descended to obtain his bearings.

Neither McKinley nor his assistant was injured.

They left the ripped balloon and went to Wapanucka in an automobile and returned with a truck to bring in the wrecked bag. A heavy rain was falling when McKinley came to grief.

Fournier's Also Wrecked
B. H. Fournier, in the balloon San Antonio, came down at Kaw City, Oklahoma. His balloon was wrecked, a message said. Fournier's balloon was the smallest of those entered.

Fournier, in a telegram to the Chamber of Commerce here, said he was caught in a whirlwind and forced to descend precipitately.

High Winds From South
A high wind is blowing from the south in the course of the other balloons. J. H. Jarboe, meteorologist, estimated its velocity at from 50 to 75 miles up to 5,000 feet altitude, and 75 miles to 100 miles above that.

The leader in the race is across the Kansas State line, traveling at about 45 miles an hour toward Kansas City, according to latest reports received here. The unidentified balloonist passed over Enid at 9:35 and was sighted at 10:30 between Ponca City and Blackwell, headed northeast. He crossed the State line shortly before 11 o'clock. He is about 650 miles from San Antonio.

Common sense is the growth of all countries.

Poverty may pinch an honest man, but it never destroys him.

DAUGHTER

When they emerged from the grove they were upon the crest of the low ridge, and what fell away before them was a wide expanse of lawn. The house was in full view, presenting its terrace and its long facade of Georgian windows. There was a swimming-pool, its curb gleaming white like marble, and the water in it, for some reason he didn't understand, showing turquoise. There were tennis-courts marked out in startling white upon the green of the lawn, and two great umbrellas of orange and white. A garden, tumultuous in color, was just beyond.

Joe stopped and stood at gaze. "I'm glad you brought me up here," he said. He was aware she wasn't looking at it herself, but was watching him instead.

There was a hickory seat built round the trunk of a giant outlier of the grove, and with him she moved over to it. As soon as he was seated, however, she got up and, unceremoniously, sat upon the grass.

"You like it to look at," she said, "for a minute, like this, on a bright spring Sunday morning. And in a couple of weeks it will be even jollier, when the kids are all getting home from school. The pool there will be alive with them, and the courts. The color's gorgeous then, with the swimming things they wear and white arms and legs all over the place. It's a good show. You must come up and see it."

He began saying he'd like to, but she hadn't yet got to what was in her mind, and, with a nod, went on:

"Really, though, except as a show, to look at now and then, doesn't it bore you frantic? The whole thing, I mean—our sort of thing, the sort of people we are?"

For a random shot this came close home.

"I don't know any of you very well," he said, lamely. "I'm not bored now."

"Oh, I suppose it's too much to expect you to talk out," she said, disconcerted.

"I Don't Know Any of You Very Well," He Answered.

tently. "Especially after I've been rubbing you the wrong way as we came along just now." She overrode his gesture of protest. "Oh, yes, I did. You thought I was just asking silly questions, like a girl meeting her first actor. It wasn't that exactly, but it sounded like it."

He tried to tell her it hadn't struck him like that. His jungle experience was a long way back, and this morning it had seemed especially remote. He hadn't been able to get into the swing of it.

She nodded amiably. "Some time you'll feel like it," she said, "and then you'll tell me."

The implication that there were going to be times, ample, unlimited times, for talking together like this, stirred him, half frightened him. He recalled, illogically, an observation of Jennie MacArthur's. "The right yife for you," she'd said, "would have to be silky, 'way up in the society game. You'd have to be proud, whenever you thought of it, that you'd got her." He felt the blood pricking in his forehead.

"You keep going," she said, "from the time you're quite small, thinking that life's going to open out, somehow, like a door. And then some day you wake up and realize you're thirty-five or so, and that it doesn't mean to open out at all; there isn't any door—not to the thing you're in. And then you hear about somebody who's never been shut up, in anything; somebody the whole world's always been open to. And you try to get people to tell you about him, John and Jimmy Wallace and Henry and Margaret Craven—Margaret's funny about you. You wonder what that kind of freedom feels like. I should think you'd feel," she looked around at him suddenly, "with us, you know, like a big moose, or something, that finds itself shut up in our pasture with the Holsteins."

She'd startled him again, this time into a laugh. It didn't occur to him as a possibility that her cousin Henry might have quoted that phrase of his about stall-fed people to her.

He saw that his laugh had annoyed her; more or less he understood why: he hadn't played up.

"I guess freedom's always a thing we think someone else has," he commented. "It made me laugh that you should have thought of me like that. The two really different kinds of people in the world are the ones who have been hungry and the ones who haven't—I don't mean dieting. I mean against their will."

That brought her gaze round to him, a look of clear wonder in her eyes. "Have you?" she asked.

It launched him, that wondering look, into a vein of biography which would have afforded Jennie MacArthur a grin. "You'd have to be wonderful to her all the time, and mysterious," Jennie had remarked, constructing that hypothetical wife for him.

It was the story of Ishmael, the son of Hagar, that he told her—"his hand against every man and every man's hand against him." He'd found his real jungle, he said, in the streets and alleys, the lumber-camps and the foundry-yards of civilized society. He'd never belonged to any union, any organization of any sort. He'd got most of his jobs, back in those years—the troubled, panicky, early nineties—working as a strike-breaker. He showed her what it meant to load pig-iron all day, a day being an eternity of ten hours; and then, before he could regain what shelter he called home, to have to evade, or outfight, the pickets—to slink along in the shadows, alert for ambushes, ready at any moment to fight or flee for his life.

She said very little while the tale went on, but that extra, jungle sense of his told him that she was completely plastic to it. She didn't look at him much—sat staring off into vacancy; and this permitted his gaze to feed upon her at will. He devoured every line and contour of her. He could see the faint pulse at the base of her throat; he watched her breathe. It was this, at last, that he lost the thread of his story and stopped.

She allowed this silence to lie unbroken between them for so long that he was upon the point of some banal apology for having talked so much about himself, when at last she spoke.

"Well, I bet you're glad it all happened, because it never beat you down. You never got meek and resigned, and you never turned socialist, wanting to divide everything up, or anything silly like that. I suppose you didn't want it divided up; you wanted it all for yourself. So you went off to the jungle, and made your fortune somehow, and then you came back and showed them."

He didn't correct this chronological misconception of hers; the picture as she saw it accorded better with her mood. "It wasn't much of a fortune I made down there," he qualified. "Twenty-seven hundred dollars that I got for some curios I brought out with me in a bag and sold to a museum."

She frustrated a little touch of drama he'd prepared, by not asking him what the curios were. She got reluctantly to her feet. "You'll have to tell me about that next time," she said. "I know it would be like 'The Arabian Nights,' and if I let you get started again, I'll sit here listening all day. I've got to drive over to the Stannards' at Lake Geneva for lunch, with John, and I expect I'm horribly late now—Oh, that doesn't matter," she went on, across his attempt to express contrition. "He probably won't speak to me all the way, but that'll only give me more time to think about the things you've been telling me."

They were walking now, she setting a very leisurely pace, down the slope toward the house.

"What I can't get over," she remarked, "is the places you must have been, the things you must have seen! I've never been in any place more exciting than St. Moritz or Paris."

"Well, you've got it on me," he said. "I've never been to any of those places."

She stopped to stare at him. "You mean you've never been to Europe at all?" she asked.

He shook his head. "Never had time. I'll get around to it some day, of course."

She laughed. "I was just thinking," she explained, "that I'd like to be there when you do. Like to go along and show it to you; see how it took you. Oh, the galleries and the cathedrals and such, of course; but other things, too: Longchamps and Hendy, and the Easter week bull-fights in Madrid."

"That's what Sorolla said," he told her.

She stopped again to stare. "Sorolla?"

He nodded. "Just what you said—that he'd like to see how I took it, the bull-fight and the Prado and all."

"When did you know Sorolla?" she asked. Her laugh seemed to be directed at her own astonishment.

"When he was here. I bought a picture of his, one of those seashore things."

time. It's better than the one they've got at the Institute. He painted a portrait of me, and then he wouldn't let me have it. Took it back to Spain with him. We got pretty well acquainted. I can talk Spanish, you see, better than English; politer, anyhow."

She digested that in silence until they got to where his car was standing in the drive. Even then she made no move to leave him.

"I'd commandeer you," she said, "and take you over to the Stannards', except that you'd be so bored you'd never forgive me."

He thought it best not to insist that he wouldn't be. He offered the excuse of work to do, and, getting into his car, seated himself at the wheel. "You will come to see the Sorolla some time?" he asked. "Come to dinner, you and your brother?"

greatest good to the largest number of people concerned. When a Chamber of Commerce is functioning only for a small, selfish group, with only its own interests at heart, that community is set back many years in its development.

"A real Chamber of Commerce should not cater to any one particular class in the community, but should be interested in better schools, better agriculture, better streets, better living conditions, as well as better merchandising."

"No special group in the Chamber of Commerce should be in control of its policies, but the Chamber should crystallize the sentiment of the community for direct action for the betterment of the community. Every person in the community is benefited by anything that benefits that community. Have better schools, better lights, better streets, better stores and the whole community benefits."

The speaker then went into the problem of the paid, full-time secretary, asserting that such a man is trained to "have his ear to the ground" to catch the sentiment of the community and to crystallize that sentiment for action by the Chamber of Commerce.

By concrete example he showed the growth and progress of several communities smaller than Gettysburg which have flourished because they employed a full-time secretary. Harrisonburg, Virginia, and Port Allegheny, this State, were two examples of what can be done with a live secretary, Dr. Moffett said. The former town, he declared, has been made the center of a large poultry producing area and the latter has taken a new lease on life after several large cut glass factories shut down for lack of business.

While Dr. Moffett said Gettysburg should carry on national publicity campaigns to attract tourists to the town, he said that this phase of Chamber of Commerce activity should not be developed to the exclusion of the development of the trade area served by the town. Tourist trade, he added, is seasonal and it was therefore essential to have the town and stores as attractive as possible during the off season to attract persons in the trading area.

Dr. Moffett flayed persons outside the Chamber of Commerce who continually "knock" it and those persons in the organization who do not take an active interest in its affairs.

He said Gettysburg should have a Chamber of Commerce of not less than 300 members with a yearly fee of $25, the services of a secretary who can handle national publicity, a credit rating system, and agricultural and industrial development projects.

At the conclusion of his address, Dr. Moffett and his brother, who accompanied him here, answered numerous questions members of the trade body have been called upon to solve from time to time. It was brought out in the discussion which followed that many agricultural products needed in Gettysburg cannot be gotten from the rural district of Adams county, but must be imported, emphasizing, it was pointed out, the need of a wide-awake agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce to instruct farmers what is needed in town that they can raise.

At the close of the discussion, at the suggestion of President Cook, Dr. Moffett was given a rising vote of thanks for his address. President Cook said he felt sure everyone present had received a new conception of Chamber of Commerce activity and the pressing need of a paid, full-time secretary for the local trade organization.

A PAID SECRETARY FOR THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, at an enthusiastic meeting of a representative body of the membership Thursday evening, heard a detailed discussion of the advantages to a community of a full-time paid organization of business men.

The talk of Doctor Moffett, a specialist in Chamber of Commerce work, was very enlightening. He exploded the theory in the minds of many that the primary object of a Chamber of Commerce is to grab off industries. That era in Chamber of Commerce activities has been successfully passed, he asserted, and the Chamber of Commerce now devotes its time largely to solving community problems.

Gettysburg, being a tourist town to a certain extent, does not want industries of a certain character to mar the beauty and attractiveness of its national park. On the other hand, there are some classes of industry which could be interested in locating here, Doctor Moffett pointed out.

The matter of a paid secretary has been given serious thought and discussion by leaders in the local chamber—the same leaders, who by their initiative and perseverance have brought about a record of accomplishment in behalf of Gettysburg business men during the past year at considerable personal sacrifice. They are convinced that Gettysburg has reached the point where the town will either go backward or forward.

The practicability of a full-time secretary for the business men in a town the size and with the progressiveness of Gettysburg has been proven beyond a doubt. Any number of instances where communities much less in size and lacking many of the opportunities Gettysburg possesses as a county seat town in an agriculture community have forged ahead with remarkable success through adoption of a full-time organization of its business men can be cited in Pennsylvania.

In view of the importance of the question, it certainly behoves each and every business man of the town, particularly those who did not hear Doctor Moffett, to inquire into the matter thoroughly before either endorsing or condemning the proposal. It is to be earnestly hoped that the criticism which has too often been made of progressive movements in the past, usually because of a lack of understanding of the matter at issue, will be entirely eliminated in connection with this most important subject.

Those who are familiar with the details of the plan owe it to themselves and to their fellow business men to discuss the matter thoroughly and frankly with those who are not informed in order to be prepared to act for the best interests of all concerned.

The expense of the plan is insignificant in comparison to the great amount of good that might accrue by employment of a full-time secretary to study the many problems of the community,—problems so closely interwoven with the prosperity of the business people in particular and the rank and file of citizenship as a whole.

THE BIG MEN

This is true throughout our days,
 Whichever way you figure:
 Little men have little ways,
 Bigger men have bigger.

Narrow minds run narrow lanes,
 Hedged in by small opinions,
 But the men of greater brains
 Dwell in wide dominions.

Little men boast little feats,
 But the bigger brother

Knows the bitters and the sweets
 Follow one another.

Little men at little woes
 Whine and whimper loudly,
 Bigger men bear bigger blows
 Patiently and proudly.

Little men will pass you by Selfishly and blindly,
 But once catch a big man's eye
 And he'll treat you kindly.

Welfare Department Aims

FREDERICK—Four important addresses touching upon health conditions, welfare work and school operations featured Wednesday morning's session of the Twenty-fifth Annual Convention and Silver Jubilee of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs now meeting at the Francis Scott Key Hotel. Between addresses, considerable routine work was disposed of, including the voting for officers of the club for the coming year. Wednesday morning's session opened with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Mrs. George A. Key. Due to the absence of Dr. Lillian Welsh, chairman, who was to have given the report of the Department of Public Welfare, Mrs. Lichtenstein took charge of this part of the program, and at ten o'clock introduced Emory L. Coblenz, Director of Public Welfare, who spoke on "The Aims of the Department of Welfare."

Five Hurt In Upset

FREDERICK—Five were injured, none of them seriously, and an automobile damaged in an accident on the Baltimore state road between Cooksville and Lisbon, Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The machine of Rev. George Rice, pastor of Brooklyn Heights Methodist Episcopal church, Baltimore, driven by its owner and occupied by his wife and by Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Baedger and daughter, Baltimore, skidded on the wet road, left the highway, plunged into the field by the side of the road, and upset. All of the occupants were trapped in the car. They were released through the car windows. They sustained cuts and bruises but were not seriously injured. They were taken to the Frederick City Hospital for treatment. Their machine was damaged, but not to any great extent. The party was on its way to Frederick when the mishap occurred.

Police Court Cases

FREDERICK—John McCrosen, arrested by Chief of Police Walsh for disorderly conduct, forfeited $5 collateral for his appearance before Justice Alban M. Wood in police court, Tuesday evening. Frank Yinger, arrested by Sheriff Ingomar W. Albough for being drunk and disorderly on the streets, Tuesday night, was committed to jail in default of $5 collateral for his appearance in police court. George Keith, arrested by Officer Engelbrecht on the charge of being drunk on the streets, was found guilty by Justice Alban M. Wood in police court Monday night and fined $10 or given the alternative of a jail sentence of 20 days. Keith went to jail. John Hollman, colored, arrested by Officer Engelbrecht for being drunk and disorderly, forfeited $5 collateral for his appearance in police court.

Why Farmers are Turning to

In 1922 Chevrolet jumped from seventh to second place in sales of all cars, and to first place in sales of fully equipped modern cars.

Purchases by farmers were the chief factor in this remarkable development.

Farmers want automobiles not only of low first price, but also of low later cost for operation and maintenance.

They want room, comfort, and the ability to stand up under hard conditions.

They find that Chevrolet, fully equipped as sold, is the best value per dollar in the low-priced field, and neighbors tell them it costs less per mile to operate.

but of a different type, of a gay coquettish nature; Miss Pauline Patterson as "Aunt Melissa," a lovable sympathetic maiden of forty-five or thereabouts; Miss Olivia Newman has the quaint comedy character of "Mrs. Poplin," who talks very fast and is rather healthy in appearance, but is always complaining of her varied ailments which are of her own imagining; Miss Ruth Newman appears as "Lindy Jane," of the "Topsy" variety, very mischievous and full of fun.

The Community band elected officers for the following year on Tuesday night. They are: president, Lewis M. King; vice president, Lloyd Snyder; secretary, S. J. Collins; treasurer, S. C. Corliss Palmer Sued for $200,000.CORLISS PALMER

In 1920 Corliss Palmer, cigar counter clerk in Macon, Ga., won a beauty contest staged by a motion picture magazine owned by Bruce Brewster, millionaire New York publisher. At the invitation of Brewster and his wife, she came to live with them while filling a motion picture contract. Later Brewster purchased a $250,000 estate for her at Morristown, N. J., where she lived with her mother and Brewster. Now Mrs. Brewster, who refuses to get a divorce, has sued her for $200,000 for alleged alienation of affections.

JEALOUS WOMAN INVADES HOME

Kills Caretaker and Fires at Wife of Man She Loves; Then Seeks Him.

Chicago, April 25.—Miss Wanda Stopa, formerly of Detroit and said to have been a resident of an artists' colony here, accompanied by a man, invaded the country home of Y. Kenley Smith, an advertising man, Thursday, shot and killed Henry Manning, a caretaker, and fired two shots at Smith's wife.

"I'm going down town and kill him, too," Miss Stopa was alleged to have screamed as she and her companion fled in an automobile.

The police rushed a detail to the office of John H. Dunham & Co., where Smith is employed, then took him to the state attorney's office and left a guard.

Smith declared Miss Stopa, with whom he said he formerly was friendly, according to the state's attorney, had demanded that he divorce his wife and marry her.

Smith said he had met Miss Stopa when she was employed in the office of the United States district attorney here. She had returned to Detroit some time ago, he said, and he expressed the belief that she came back to Chicago determined to kill him and his wife. She once before had threatened him, he charged.

Miss Stopa and her companion, whose name was said by the police to be Ted Glasgow, failed to appear at the Dunham offices, and they are being sought.

They forced themselves into the Smith home, but Smith had left for his office. Rushing into the living room, she began firing, according to the police, one shot killing Manning and two others narrowly missing Mrs. Smith.

MINTER'S STORE
BALTIMORE STREET5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lansing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely, Frank Lansing, 1306 Jeffries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

The Community Merchant

Who is the Home Merchant?

He is the chap who gives you credit when you need it and oftentimes carries your account until you are able to pay, when you are hard pressed financially.

He is the chap who gives you back your money or makes exchanges when you are not satisfied with what you have bought.

He is the chap who meets you at the door with a handshake, and lets you out with a message to the 'kids' and a real 'come again, goodbye.'

He is the chap whose clerks live in this community and spend their money with you and other local people.

He is the chap who helps support our churches and charitable organizations and talks for the home community and boosts for it every day in the year.

He is the chap who visits you when you are sick, sends flowers to your family when you die, and follows your body out among the trees and tombs, as far as human feet may travel with the dead.

He is the home merchant — your neighbor — your friend — your helper in time of need.

Don't you think you ought to trade with him, and be his friend and his helper in time of need?

Don't you know that every dollar you send out of town for merchandise is sent to strangers—to men who never spend a dollar here?

You don't save much, frequently nothing, when you send your money out of town. And don't you know that the growth and prosperity of this town depend very largely upon the success and prosperity of the home merchant? Out-of-town people judge our community by the appearance of our stores and the degree of enterprise shown by our merchants. And our home merchants cannot succeed unless home folks give them loyal support.

A per centage of every dollar you spend with the home community merchants will come back to YOU indirectly. Not a cent of the money you send to Chicago, or New York or Philadelphia or any other city will be returned to you. Hence.

For Good Concrete- SECURITY CEMENT

Replace Worn Out Walks with Everlasting Concrete

Broken sidewalks cause accidents and are an unsightly detriment to the neighborhood. Replace your worn-out walk with one of Concrete. Concrete walks increase property values, improve the neighborhood, protect passersby, keep you, your family and friends out of the mud—and keep the mud out of the house. Lay Concrete walks now wherever you need them in front, around or in back of your house. Once properly laid, Concrete walks never need replacing.

Many home owners can do the work themselves; or any local contractor can do it quickly and inexpensively. The cost will be small; but the convenience, safety and satisfaction will be great. Any Security Cement dealer named below will give you helpful information.

Your Next Car

Will be this Light-Six, if you learn the truth

WHEN you buy a car in the "thousand-dollar" class, here are some things you should know.

We made a canvass of men who bought rival cars in this class. And we found that 96 in each 100 bought without knowing these facts.

So, for your sake and our sake, we want to present them to you.

Save $200 to $400

Studebaker builds 150,000 fine cars yearly. It builds in model factories, modernly equipped. It has spent $38,000,000 in the past five years on new-day plants and equipment.

By quantity and up-to-dateness it saves large sums per car. A car like this Light-Six, built under ordinary conditions, would cost $200 to $400 more.

11.4% less to run

This supreme quality means lower operating cost. Owners of fleets of cars in this class made audited records to prove this.

They compared 329 cars, running up to 25,000 miles each. And they found that the Studebaker Light-Six cost 11.4% less to operate than the average of its rivals. This includes depreciation. The saving was nearly one cent per mile.

The reasons are these

The Studebaker Light-Six, in its chassis, represents the best we know. In steel and in workmanship it is identical with the costliest cars we build.

It is designed and superintended by an engineering department which costs us $500,000 yearly.

Each steel formula has been proved the best for its purpose by years of tests. On some we pay 15% premium to makers to get them exactly right.

Each car in the building gets 32,000 tests and inspections.

The crankshafts are machined on inch. And 122 are exact to one-half that.

Genuine leather cushions, ten inches deep. Unusual equipment. Scores of extra values.

Made by the leaders

This is one of the cars which has made Studebaker the leader in quality cars. Our sales have almost trebled in three years. The trend toward Studebakers has become a sensation.

Last year 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

Back of this car is an honored name, which for 72 years has stood for high ideals.

Behind it are $90,000,000 of assets, staked on pleasing you better than others.

Before you pay $1,000 or more for a car, these are facts you should know and compare. You owe that to yourself.

Send for the book

Mail us the coupon below. We will send you free our new book that will inform you on five simple things which reveal the value of a car. For instance: It will enable you to look at any car and tell whether it's been cheapened to meet a price or offers true quality.

It will tell you why some cars rattle at 20,000 miles and others don't. It shows one single point in a closed car which measures whether you're getting top or medium quality. The book is free—clip the coupon below.

Hair Like Mine

HAS COME TO THOUSANDS IN THIS EASY WAY
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I found in France, many years ago, the greatest hair help science has discovered. My mother used it, and at 57 she had hair like mine today.

I have used it. My hair is the marvel of millions. It grows finer every year. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, never a touch of gray. And now, at a grandmother's age, it is hair that most girls envy.

I have supplied this help to countless friends, and it brought them like results. So I am convinced that it means to millions such hair as cannot come without it. And I am going to help those millions get it.

What experts say
This formula, perfected by French experts, is based on lifetimes of hair study. They gave me these reasons for its amazing results.

It combats the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair roots. They check the hair growth and destroy the hair. They choke the pigment which gives color to the hair.

Thus it cleans the scalp, then it stimulates and fertilizes. Hair thrives under these conditions, just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

It cannot harm the hair. It does not affect hair color, natural or artificial. It deals only with the scalp—the soil of the hair. And all the results come through reviving the roots.

Quick and easy

I call this formula my Hair Youth.
I apply it with an eye dropper directly to the scalp. This takes but a minute a day, and it does not muss the hair.

One feels at once its cleansing, stimulating action. And my own hair shows what it does for hair health and hair beauty.

Every dealer sells my Hair Youth under guarantee. If one bottle fails to delight you, he will return your money. I want every woman, without a penny of risk to learn what my Hair Youth does.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 with eye dropper. Also my Youth Cream, based on fruits. Also my Facial
Youth—my famous liquid cleanser.
Also my White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. My Beauty Book comes with each.

Try my Hair Youth at my risk. Do it now. The results are too fine to miss. Then I think you will want the other helps which did so much for me. And all of them are now at your command. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.—
